

Bill R. Dixon, CPA

Principal

Bill joined Rice Sullivan, LLC in 1993. As a Principal, he specializes in providing tax consulting services to individuals and businesses and provides comprehensive audit and review services to governmental and nonprofit entities. In addition, he has experience providing accounting, management and QuickBooks consulting services to professional service providers, small businesses and construction company owners.

Bill began his public accounting career with Rice Sullivan, LLC soon after her graduated from college. As a high school and college student, he worked at Heritage Express Shop, where he started as a stock clerk and progressed his way to manager. Today, he attributes his success to his parents, mentors, faith and strong work ethic.

Over the years, Bill's previous and current roles have given him the necessary tools to better identify with each of his client's unique needs. Specifically, he aided a trucking company's owner in an extensive projected cost analysis for a proposed dedicated contract carrier agreement. He also assisted a small business owner with an internal investigation of employee fraud.

Bill grew up in Belleville, Illinois and currently resides in Millstadt, Illinois, with his wife, Irene. In his spare time he enjoys playing handball, racquetball, golf and running in various races.

Designations

- Certified Public Accountant

Memberships

- American Institute of Certified Public Accountants (AICPA)
- Southwestern Illinois University at Edwardsville Alumni Association

Education

- Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville – Bachelor of Science, Accountancy, Cum Laude

Bill's mission statement

"Efficient, competent and prompt service come first in all interactions with my clients. Client satisfaction is the ultimate objective."